15. Read the following passage carefully and answer the questions set thereon.

Patience is better than wisdom, an ounce of patience is worth a pound of brains. All men praise patience but only a few can practise it. It is a medicine which is good for all diseases, but it is not every garden that grows the herbs to make it with.

Many people are born crying, live complaining and die disappointed. They think every other person's burden to be light and their own feathers to be heavy as lead. In reality, it is their fancy rather than their fate, that makes things go so hard with them. Many would be well off, if they could but think so.

- i) What is a good medicine for all diseases?
- ii) What is praised by all, but practised by a few?
